Wild Kirsch – an experience! Adventure, love and life-blood

The Wild Kirsch is our secret favourite. A lot of love, care and adventure go into creating this sophisticated fruit spirit. Sometimes we feel like some crazy mountaineer who daringly climbs the highest peak to pick a rare edelweiss for his beloved, because we too have to venture up long ladders to reach the rare wild cherries growing on very tall trees - and we have to get there before the birds, who are just as eager for them as we are at Etter.

The old trees from which we pick our wild cherries grow on the edges of forests in the Canton Zug region. They are wild, untended, have no name and are certainly not of any single variety. However, that little piece of flesh around the stone of this small cherry is full of sweetness and intensity. We distil these wild, hand-picked, fully-ripened cherries because we know they can produce the best kirsch of all.

This wild cherry distillate is stored and matured for many years in 50 litre demijohns under the rafters of an old barn. Since wild cherries are not available every year our “Wild Kirsch” naturally only goes into bottles labelled to show the precise vintage. The finesse and harmony of flavours provided by this kirsch have turned many a non-kirsch-drinker into an absolute kirsch-lover.
